PORTAL 1994

INSIDE WEAVER ...

THE CLASS OF 94 SALUTES DR.
EDDIE DAVIS FOR 20 YEARS OF SER-VICE AND DEDICATION TO WEAVER.
THANKS, THIS PAGE IS FOR YOU

STOP THE VIOLENCE!

Dr. Davis and Chuck D.

Chuck D of Public Enemy returned to Weaver on January 25 to celebrate Chuck D day and have a rally against violence. He, along with a panel of guests including Brian X and Leaders of the New School, addressed the youth on rap, violence, and the importance of an education.

The Students Go Wild!

Because of her experience as a real-life model, senior Latoya Morrison was able to help out the other students.

Rose and Renea

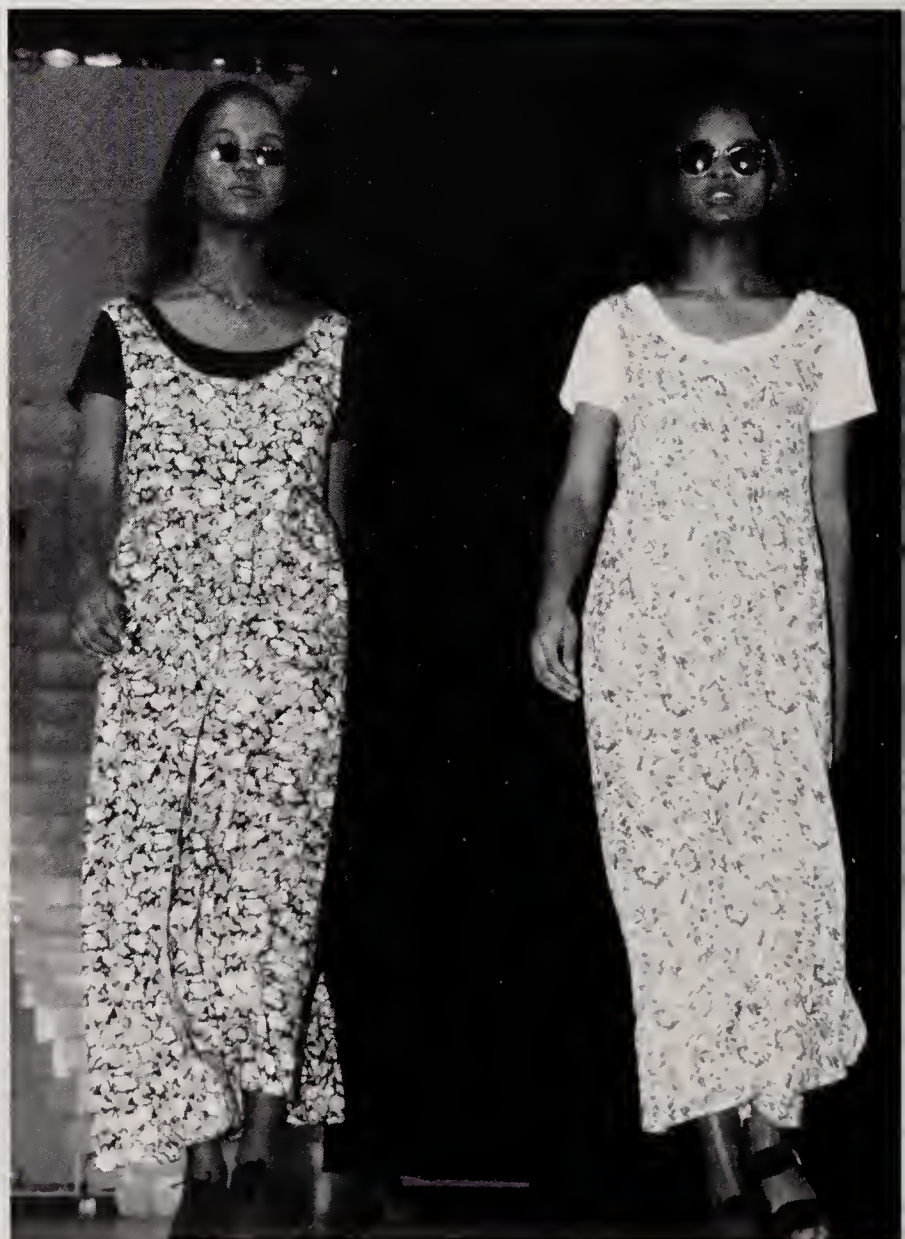

Bottom: "Twins" Thea and Renea

Dressed as a nubian prince, junior Romaine Bartlette is very handsome. All clothing and shoes were donated by local shops.

Aubrey and Alecia look ready for a night on the town

FASHION EXPLOSION '93

Students joined with professional models to make fashion a huge success.

In her African clothing, senior Terry-Ann Mitchell is the picture of elegance and beauty.

As one of the few male models in the show, senior Larry Mounds struts down the runway. You go boy!

DEDICATION

Nick Martoccia

To a man with a heart as big as the ocean and as patient as a lamb, we thank you for your time and effort. You continued to push when everybody had given up. You sacrificed prep periods, afterschool, weekends, even vacations to finish the book. Your warm personality and untiring willingness have made you a valued friend. You are a dedicated leader and we dedicate the yearbook to you, Mr. Nick Martoccia.
